

THETAS GIVE MONEY FOR HOSPITAL WORK

National Organization Subscribes $3,862 to Supply 65 Nurses in Base Hospital.

DECIDED IN SUMMER

Local Chapter's Share Is $61, Which Has Been Sent to Red Cross.

The Kappa Alpha Theta sorority as a national chapter, has entered an unusual field of war relief work in giving $3,862 to the Red Cross for the supply of the complete equipment required for the sixty-five nurses in a base hospital. This action was decided upon at the national Theta convention held at Charlevoix, Mich., this summer.

This convention was called on the instigation of P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, who urged all organizations to make some definite decisions in regard to the war. At this meeting as a measure of conservation the sorority outlined all their work for the next few years so that another convention will not be necessary for some time.

The motto of the convention was "opportunity" and the keynote of the meetings was national service. Many kinds of service to the country were discussed by the Thetas but the supply of the Red Cross nurse outfits for one of the hospitals at the front, appealed most to the delegates. In answer to the cry to do work at home the Theta scholarship fund was increased, encouraging more to attend school.

The sorority divided the subscription among the chapters. The share of the chapter at the University of Missouri is $61 which it has already sent to the Red Cross headquarters. The girls of the sorority here don't know at what point on the battle-front the money will be utilized to equip the nurses of a hospital, as the money is now in the hands of the Red Cross. They are all much interested in the matter and anxious to find out if possible the location of the hospital, but are rather doubtful as to whether they will be informed or not.

Four delegates attended the convention from the local chapter and in telling of the proceedings, characterized the convention as "enthusiastically patriotic." During the whole convention, which in other years has been more or less of a frivolous affair, the delegates knitted for the soldiers and made bandages and surgical dressings. On the last night of the convention all the delegates sat up till 2 o'clock doing this work.

SPORT

The Tigers will meet the Oklahoma Sooners at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on Rollins Field in what promises to be the most spectacular game of the year. Word received from Norman indicates that Bennie Owen's team will use open play throughout the contest. The Sooners have been famous for this style of attack in the Missouri Valley.

Coach Owen has been devoting all week in perfecting new forward pass formations to use against the Tigers. He has two backfields to choose from, one that averages 160 pounds, the other 147 pounds. The Sooner line will outweigh the Tigers almost ten pounds to the man.

The Oklahoma lineup will be: R. Johnston, left end; Boyle, left tackle; Brown, left guard; Douglass, center; McGlothlin, right guard; Deacon, right tackle; Durant, right end; Wilmoth, quarter; Shaw, left half; Graham, right half; Davis, fullback. Only one of these men is a third year man on the team—Durant, right end.

Coach Schulte is undecided as to the Tiger lineup, but the practice this week indicates that Captain Hamilton will be used at center, Greenwood at end and Ewing will start at left tackle. Most of the practice this week has been devoted to breaking up forward passes and a few trick plays. The Missouri backfield will be Morris at quarter, Collins and Edwards as half backs with Rider at fullback. This is one of the strongest offensive backfields ever used by the Tiger mentor.

The officials for tomorrow's game are: John Grover, referee; E. C. Quigley, umpire; Dr. J. A. Reilly, head linesman.

The annual battle of the Kansans—the University of Kansas and Kansas Aggies—will be the leading game in the Missouri Valley conference tomorrow since it will be the meeting of the two eleven standing at the top of the conference averages. Its outcome means the elimination of one of the two teams from the Valley championship race.

The Kansas Aggies with two conference victories to strengthen their defense, one from Washington and a second from Missouri, have only the jinx of their annual battle with the Jayhawkers against them. By their 7 to 0 defeat of Ames in the fourth period of their last Saturday's struggle the Kansans from Lawrence gained a position of prominence in Valley circles. Since indications given by previous performances place the two teams on an even ground, no predictions are being made by followers of football in the conference as to the standing at the end of the game's fourth period at Manhattan.

Missouri, after a 49 to 0 victory over the weakest member of the conference, Drake, last Saturday will meet Benny Owen's Oklahoma University eleven. The Missouri team, somewhat slackened in its pace by injuries, will enter the contest in second place to the Oklahoma representatives, who, barring the defeat at the hands of Zuppke's Illinois charges, have a clean slate, in addition to having had a rest last Saturday in preparation for the game.

Nebraska will play Syracuse at Lincoln. The odds are obviously in favor of the Eastern team because of a lack of information regarding its strength and the possibility of its opening up a new style of football against the Cornhuskers.

Washington University will meet the Missouri School of Mines eleven and the team of the Pikeaway school after having played a tie game with the Cleveland High School team of St. Louis during the week and will not be the pick of the Valley critics as the winner of the contest.

H. Olcott, K. U. Coach, Accepted for Army Work.

Herman Olcott, football coach of the University of Kansas for the last five years, has been accepted by the War Department as director of athletics at one of the training camps. It was reported that he was to be director at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, but a denial has come from there, stating that Dr. John B. Kaufman, past assistant surgeon, U. S. N., will continue as director at that camp.

No successor has been named for Coach Olcott, but it is probable that Jay Bond, the freshman coach, will get the position for at least the rest of the year.
